Not a member somewhere? Not a problem.

With this list of Golfweek's Best Courses You Can Play, we present the best public-access courses in each state, as judged by our nationwide network of raters.

Each year we publish three lists that are the foundation of our course-ratings program: Golfweek's Best Modern Courses, Golfweek's Best Classic Courses, Golfweek's Best Courses You Can Play, state by state. We also have Golfweek's Best 2020: Top 100 Best Courses You Can Play.

The members of our course-ratings panel continually evaluate courses and rate them based on our 10 criteria. They also file a single, overall rating on each course. Those overall ratings on each course are averaged together to produce a final rating for each course. Then each course is ranked against other courses in its state to produce the final rankings.

All the courses on this list allow public access in some fashion, be it standard daily green fees, through a resort or by staying at an affiliated hotel. If there's a will, there's a tee time.

KEY: (m) modern, built in 1960 or after; (c) classic, built before 1960. (For courses with a number preceding the (m) or (c), that is where the course ranks on Golfweek's Best lists for top 200 modern and classic courses in the U.S.)

New or returning to the rankings.*
